CHILDLINE 1098 Project – Bhadradri Kothagudem

In 1996, CHILDLINE India Foundation (CIF) launched CHILDLINE, the country's first toll-free tele helpline for street children in distress. As of March 2015 total of 36 million calls since inception have been serviced by CHILDLINE service and operates in 366 cities / districts in 34 states/UTs through its network of over 700 partner organizations across India.

CHILDLINE India Foundation (CIF) is the nodal agency of the Union Ministry of Women and Child Development acting as the parent organization for setting up, managing and monitoring the CHILDLINE 1098 service all over the country. CIF is the sole agency/body responsible for establishing the CHILDLINE service in the cities/districts of the country, monitoring of service delivery and finance, training, research and documentation, creating awareness, advocacy as well as resource generation for the service.

CHILDLINE 1098 service is a 24 hour free emergency phone outreach service for children in need of care and protection. CIF undertakes replication of CHILDLINE, networking and facilitation, training, research and documentation, and Communications and Strategic Initiatives both at the national and international level.

This is a project supported by the Union Ministry of Women and Child Development and linking state Governments, NGOs, bilateral /multilateral agencies and corporate sector. CIF is responsible for the establishment of CHILDLINE centres across the country. CIF also functions as a national centre for awareness, advocacy and training on issues related to child protection.

CHILDLINE stands for a friendly 'didi' or a sympathetic 'bhaiya' who is always there for vulnerable children 24 hours of the day, 365 days of the year.

A phone number that spells hope for millions of children across India, CHILDLINE is India's first 24-hour, free, emergency phone service for children in need of aid and assistance. Whether you are a concerned adult or a child, you can dial 1098, the toll-free number to access our services. We not only respond to the emergency needs of children but also link them to services for their long-term care and rehabilitation. We have, till date, reached out to over three million children across the nation through such calls.

CHILDLINE is a platform bringing together the Ministry of Women & Child Development, Government of India, Department of Telecommunications, street and community youth, non-profit organizations, academic institutions, the corporate sector and concerned individuals.

We work for the protection of the rights of all children in general. But our special focus is on all children in need of care and protection, especially the more vulnerable sections, which include:

- ✓ Street children and youth living alone on the streets.
- ✓ Child labourers working in the unorganized and organized sectors.
- ✓ Domestic help, especially girl domestics.
- ✓ Children affected by physical / sexual / emotional abuse in family, schools or institutions.
- ✓ Children who need emotional support and guidance.
- ✓ Children of commercial sex workers
- ✓ Child victims of the flesh trade
- ✓ Victims of child trafficking
- ✓ Children abandoned by parents or guardians
- ✓ Missing children.
- ✓ Run away children.
- ✓ Children who are victims of substance abuse
- ✓ Differently-abled children
- ✓ Children in conflict with the law
- ✓ Children in institutions
- ✓ Mentally challenged children
- ✓ HIV/ AIDS infected children
- ✓ Children affected by conflict and disaster
- ✓ Child political refugees
- ✓ Children whose families are in crises
- ✓ Child marriage
- ✓ Dropout children
- ✓ Beggar children

Vision :

A child - friendly nation that guarantees the rights and protection of all children. .

Objectives :

- ✚ To reach out to every child in need of care and protection by responding to emergencies on 1098.
- ✚ Awareness about CHILDLINE 1098 amongst every Indian child.

Mentally challenged children, HIV/AIDS infected children, Children affected by conflict and disaster, Dropout children , Child marriages .

Explained about Prohibition of Child marriage act (PCMA) 2006. A marriage is a cause for great celebration in India. Unfortunately, so is a Child marriage is a violation of human rights and can result in bonded labour, enslavement, commercial sexual exploitation and violence against its victims. Since they cannot abstain from sex or insist on condom use, child brides are often exposed to such serious health risks as premature pregnancy and sexually transmitted infections like HIV and AIDS.

Child marriage as a concept can be defined as the formal or an informal union between two individuals before attaining the age of eighteen years. This institution should be seen as an abuse of human rights since this is one form of a forced marriage. As per the law in India, a Child marriage is one in which the girl is below the age of eighteen years and the boy is below the age of twenty one year

The UN finds these rights interdependent and indivisible, meaning that a right cannot be fulfilled at the expense of another right.

The purpose of the UNCRC is to outline the basic human rights that should be afforded to children. There are four broad classifications of these rights. These four categories cover all civil, political, Social, economic, and cultural rights of every child. 1. Right to Survival 2. Right to Protection 3. Right to Participation 4. Right to development.

Prohibition of Child Marriage Act 2006

Child marriage has been an issue in India for a long time. Because of its root in traditional, cultural and religious practices it has been a hard battle to fight. Child marriage is also associated with other problems like dowry and child widowhood. It is also associated with malnutrition, poor health of mothers and high fertility and hence over-population. The following is an overview of the act.

According to the act a child is a male who has not completed twenty one years of age and a female who has not completed eighteen years of age. Child marriage is a contract between any two people of which either one or both parties is a child. Child marriage that took place before or after this act can be made void by the person who was a child at the time of marriage. But the marriage must be voided before the person who was a child completes their second year of maturity.

Child marriage is a violation of children's human rights. Despite being prohibited by international law, it continues to rob millions of girls under 18 around the world of their childhood. Early marriage denies girls their right to make vital decisions about their sexual health and well-being. It forces them out of education and into a life of poor prospects, with increased risk of violence, abuse, ill health or early death.

Early pregnancy is one of the most dangerous causes and consequences of child marriage. Girls married early are more likely to experience violence, abuse and forced sexual relations. They are more vulnerable to sexually transmitted infections (including HIV).

Going to school gives girls choices and opportunities in life, allowing them to play an active role in their communities and break the cycle of poverty. Girls who are married are unlikely to be in school. Education is essential for girls to be able to make informed decisions about their sexual health and well-being.

Child marriage and teenage pregnancy often mean that girls no longer attend school. In addition, the girls suffer mentally and physically in the marriage. Many girls suffer from depression and post-traumatic stress. Pregnancy for girls in East African countries is a major cause of death because their bodies are still growing and are not yet ready to have a baby. Additionally they also run a high risk of being infected with HIV. Because in many countries it is still a big taboo to talk about these subjects, girls often do not seek help.

Explained about Prohibition of Child marriage act (PCMA) 2006. A marriage is a cause for great celebration in India. Unfortunately, so is a Child marriage is a violation of human rights and can result in bonded labour, enslavement, commercial sexual exploitation and violence against its victims. Since they cannot abstain from sex or insist on condom use, child brides are often exposed to such serious health risks as premature pregnancy and sexually transmitted infections like HIV and AIDS.

Child marriage as a concept can be defined as the formal or an informal union between two individuals before attaining the age of eighteen years. This institution should be seen as an abuse of human rights since this is one form of a forced marriage. As per the law in India, a Child marriage is one in which the girl is below the age of eighteen years and the boy is below the age of twenty one year.

Reasons Why Child Marriages:

Early marriage is a way to ensure chastity and virginity of the bride, Parents see marriage as a way to secure the girl`s future socially and economically, Lack of education and awareness about the consequences of child marriage, poor implementation of the law and lack of will and action on the part of the administration are important reasons for the continuation of child marriage.

Offences and punishment under this Act:

1. Punishment for male adult: If an adult male who is above 18 years of age contracts child marriage, he shall be punishable with rigorous imprisonment for 2 years or with fine which may extend to one lakh rupees or both.
2. Punishment for solemnizing marriage: If a person performs, conducts, directs or abets any child marriage, he shall be punishable with rigorous imprisonment for 2 years or with fine which may extend to one lakh rupees or both.
3. Punishment for promoting / permitting solemnization of marriage: Any person having charge of the child whether parent or guardian or any other person including member of organization or association of persons who does any act to promote the passing or permit child marriage or negligently fails to prevent it from being solemnized, including attending or participating such marriage, shall be punishable with rigorous imprisonment for 2 years or with fine which may extend to one lakh rupees or both. Offence under this Act is cognizable and non billable.
